Apple Flash Bulletin

Summer 2003.

New Snapshots.

- Several club members have had their photo profiled as the "Photo of the Month" on the club's website. Congratulations to all of those who have been selected.

July 2003 -- Photo of the Month.

"Eastern Washington Sunset," © Dan Feil, 2003.

- Congratulations to Guy Crilly for being a "Print Exhibit Winner" in the "World-in-Focus" competition. His 10"x14" photograph, "Reflections in a Hoot Owl's Eye," matted to 16"x20" and framed with barnwood, will be on display through July 20th at Rainier Square in downtown Seattle.
- Also, congratulations to Ivan Christensen for his slide being accepted in the Northwest Council of Camera Clubs "Best of the Northwest Challenge" for 2003.

Upcoming Events.

- Plan to enter a fair this year. Several fairs are just around the corner, for instance, this coming July 10th & 11th are the entry days for the King County Fair, Enumclaw, WA. Later this year in August, there is the North Central Washington District Fair held in Waterville, WA, followed by the Chelan County Fair in Cashmere, WA, during the first weekend in September. Need more time to get ready? Then plan to enter the Central Washington Fair in Yakima, WA, taking place the first weekend in October. The fairs are a great way to let others in the community see your photos, and you may even get a ribbon or two in the process. Not only that, but you often get valuable feedback on how your photograph could have more impact.
- Again this year the club is looking for volunteers to help host the photography exhibit at the Chelan County Fair. If you are interested please contact John Gahringer, the Chelan County Fair photography superintendent, via e-mail at: vicepresident@wenatcheephotographyclub.org While at the fair, check out the club's new poster display board.
